

Caixia Wang received the B.Sc. and Ph.D. degrees in electrical engineering from North China Electric Power University and Tsinghua University, Beijing, China, in 2006 and 2012, respectively, having spent extended visits at various research institutions around the world. She has worked closely with researchers at the US National Renewable Energy Laboratory (NREL) during the past several years. She is now with State Grid Energy Research Institute, Beijing, China, where she has been employed since 2012.